

Assumptions: We use one enum to differentiate between the different kind of entities and all the variables here are the relevant to understand how the system works.

